Supportive and Inspiring

Dedication

Debora Choquette

Whenever a student has a personal problem or concern, Mrs. Choquette willingly listens and offers support. When the class of 2001 entered West Boylston Middle/High School as sixth graders, Mrs. Choquette also arrived as the new health teacher. Since 1994, the seniors share a unique relationship with this faculty member. Mrs. Choquette influences students in many roles--health teacher, peer counseling mentor, and cheerleading coach. The students trust Mrs. Choquette for an honest and thoughtful answer, and she sets an example for all of us by accepting diverse viewpoints without judgements based upon superficial factors. For immeasurable reasons, the class of 2001 dedicate this yearbook to her as a token of our gratitude for all her unselfish efforts.

The class of 2001 would also think to say a special Thank You to the following people who have helped make this yearbook possible and who have helped our class throughout the years.

To a special group of teachers who are retiting at the end of this year: Mrs. Dintino, Mrs. Bositis, Mr. Perry, Mr. Priestly, Mr. McGrath, and Mr. White. Your years of hard work have not made you rich, yet we are all richer for having had you as teachers. You are a credit to your profession and we wish you the peaceful retirement you deserve. Your shoes will not be easily filled.

Mrs. Bullock - for allowing us "after hours" access for our deadline crunch time
Mr. Simpson - for showing up to unluck the school for us on weekends
Mr. Elton Drew - for his gencrous contributions to the West Boylston Art and Music programs. His donations of scholarships and funds for the media center have helped us have a more complete education.
Ms. Bell - for generously lending her space and for babysitting and to Mr. Pellowe for his technical assistance.
Mr. LeBlanc, Ms. Minardi, and Ms. Benoit, our class advisers, for helping us stay on track, raise funds, produce plays, organize the prom, and generate tremendous class spirit.
Mrs. Roy, as always, thanks for hounding slow-poke seniors and for passing along yearbook information
Also, thanks to Mr. LeBlanc and Ms. McQuade for helping us sort through college applications and scholarship packets and all the other thankless tasks of guidance counselors.
Mrs. Howe - for giving up her Saturday so that we would finish our deadline
Thanks to our Jostens crew: Dan Smith, the best rep in the country, and Kristi Cash and Sandy Mays (sorry about the proofs)
Mrs. Bowen wants to thank everyone else who did extra work, allowing her to still be the adviser and a new mom too.

A Ray of Light:

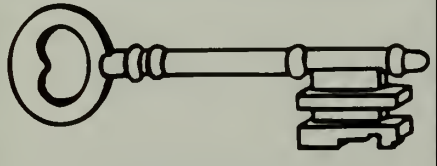
Memorial

Michael K. Sullivan

Michael K. Sullivan's unique spirit brightened the class from Kindergarten to Seventh Grade. Mike had a rare talent for art and often could be seen sketching in class. He taught us about compassion, kindness, and true inner beauty. We cannot forget his immense contribution to the class of 2001.

UNLOCKING THE FUTURE:
Introducing the Class of 2001...

Upon graduating from eighth grade, we wondered what doors we would unlock. As the true first class of the millennium, the class of 2001 awaits an incredible future. We stand on the threshold of the future: we take classes on the Internet, interact via email, and communicate on cell phones. But with this rapidly expanding technology, can we truly imagine all the future's possibilities? Will we live in outer space? Do we want to clone humans? Yet we also have a connection with the past: the timeless stress of college applications, English paper deadlines, "senioritis", holiday concerts, and sports' tribulations. Our unique class offers tremendous talent: artistic, athletic, and intellectual. Regardless of the doors that we may each unlock, our class has the common bond of this high school experience.



"It is difficult to say what is impossible, for the dream of yesterday is the hope of today and the reality of tomorrow."
-Robert H. Goddard

The yearbook staff has invested countless hours and tremendous effort to capture this collection of 2000-2001 moments.

We labored to continue the key theme, "Unlocking the future," with art, divider pages, and our cover. We have included a new feature, the class will, to remind us of the past. The inclusion of many older pictures of classmates also serves this purpose. This year we have expanded HOMECOMING coverage in our "Homecoming Mini-Mag" which includes a full color fold out page! The senior write-ups and dedication commemorate the present year, while the classes descend from juniors to sixth graders to celebrate the future.

Though rain twice threatened the senior picture, our class prevailed, posing by the lion to appreciate our four years of purple Homecoming wars. With great anticipation, we look forward to the future with SOLID lessons of West Boylston.

With good luck and fond memories, we wish the CLASS OF 2001 much success and happiness!

PEER COUNSELING

The Peer Counselors
Members of Peer Counseling: Marlee Nolan, Sarah Brennan, Kellie Ambrose, Andy Triola, Alicia Beauvais, Ashley O'Hearn, Karrie Bouthiller, and Jill Flagg. Advisor Mrs. Deborah Choquette leads first semester's group of enthusiastic Peer Counselors. From helping with middle school mediations to developing Awareness Week for the entire school, the Peers have accomplished a great deal of work in their short six month course.

Sharing Ideas
Sarah and Jill plan interactive activities such as icebreakers for a sixth grade class on the topic of accepting their peers.

Circle Time
Ashley, Marlee, Alicia, and Kellie express their feelings in the class "circle." The Peers love this relaxing time which relieves their daily stress. Mediators describe the goal as "to focus ourselves before we can help you."

A Mock Mediation
Sarah, Ashley, Jill, and Andy demonstrate the set-up of a typical mediation. The Peer Counselors sit across from the two kids who are being mediated. These confidential mediations are a great way to resolve conflicts among students.

Homecoming Week 2000 was a 5 -day blur of activity. Between the daily dress-up days, the competitive after-school activities, and the annual semi-formal dance on Saturday, it seemed like the week passed in the blink of an eye. Fortunately, we have plenty of pictures (in full vibrant color) to remind you of how silly you and your friends looked and more importantly how much fun we all had. Whether you are a Freshman, Sophomore, Junior, or Senior it's clear that the 2000 Homecoming Week was the most exciting week of the school year.

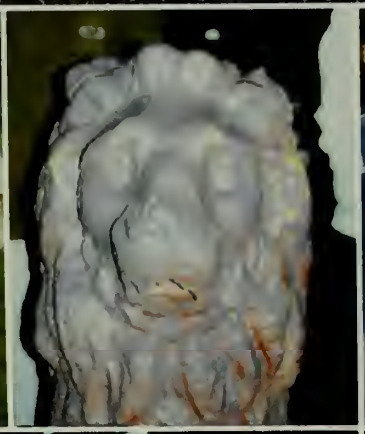
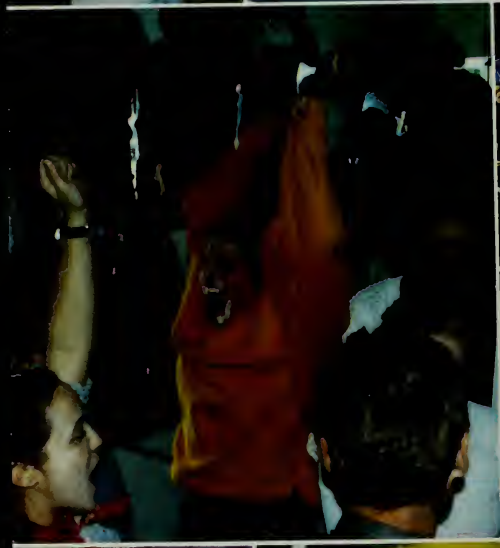
Homecoming Week 2000 Tune-In to T.V. Land!

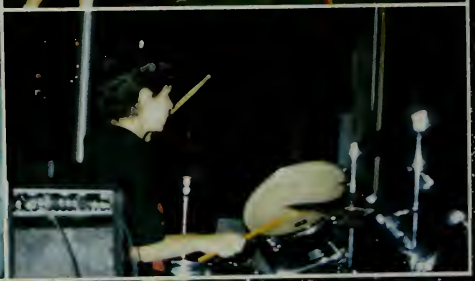
Monday: Beverly Hillbillies & Pie Eating Tuesday: Addams Family & Obstacle Course



Wednesday: Gilligan's Island & Treasure Hunt

Thursday: Reading Rainbow (Class Color Day) & Tug-of-War & Bonfire





Friday: George of the Jungle (Blue & White Day) & Pep Rally

That was the week that was

The Freshmen

The high school newcomers showed their enthusiasm and spirit all week long by annoying everyone with their bright yellow shirts and their large participation in the after school activities (which might have something to do with the fact that there's 40 more of them than the Seniors). They even launched a cute little attack on the Senior-dominated Lion Thursday morning. Awwww!

The Sophomores

Hey, at least they're not Freshmen. The devilish Sophomores did well all week in their attendance and at one point gave the Seniors a run for their money. Enthusiasm and school spirit paid off when they received 2nd place in the race for the Spirit flag.

The Juniors

The Juniors tried their best all week to get their grade together and be a fighting force in the competitions. They "won"the scavenger hunt and some events in the Pep Rally. They also were the most annoying threat on the Senior Lion and made an appearance almost every morning. They've got one year to get it together.

TOP 5 Keys to Winning Homecoming

5. Wake up at 4:30 a.m. every morning
4. Get T-Shirts in Class color for everyone in the class
3. "Forget" your homework at home
2. Get the whole class involved
1. BE A SENIOR!!!!

The Seniors

The clear winners of Homecoming were amazing all week long. They had the most creative costumes, best attendance, and amazing almost over-the-top spirit that filled our quiet school with the shout of "Who let the Seniors out?" and screams of celebration every time they won an event, dress up, or just felt like expressing their unity. The Lion was purple very early every morning and surrounded by purple militia and decorated cars. They ruled the week and set an incredible standard for the classes to come.

English

Kristin Cleary and Jen LeBlanc make eleventh grade English class interactive.

Sophomore Jodi Walsh stares intensely at her paper as she tries to recall that week's vocabulary.

Science

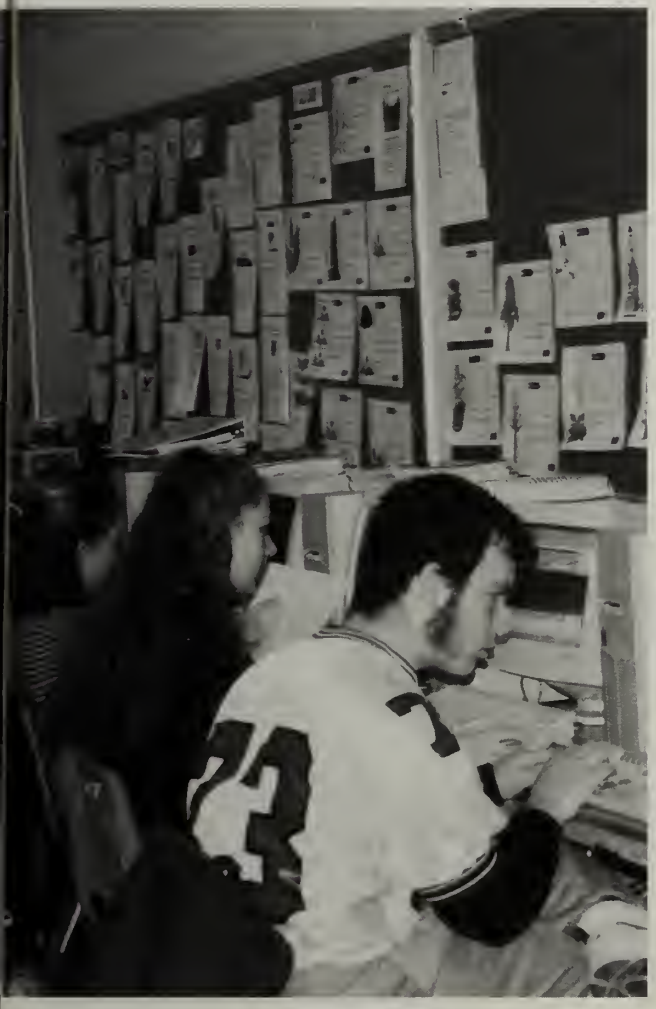
Alissa Cobill, in her protective eyeglasses, mixes a chemical solution in Junior Chemistry class.

Senior Kellie Ambrose tests centrifugal motion in Honors Physics class.

Lab partners Aaron Tringuk and Marisa Keirstead work hard experimenting with dangerous acids in Mr. Jordan's science class.

Juniors Ryan Nolan and Brian Walker combine their efforts and type up an amazing lab experiment.

Computers



Mrs. Dintino's Office 95 class teaches students, including Paul Genova here, how to do word processing, and use spreadsheets.

Junior Paul Orciani explains a complicated computer program to Doug Droesch.

Even teachers make use of the new computers given to the school. Not only does Mrs. Benoit use the system, but she also teaches a Virtual High School Economics course.

Senior Rick Stepien concentrates on the latest computer project.

Welcome to the 21st Century! Students can take courses from Visual Basics to AP Economics via the Internet.

VIRTUAL HIGH SCHOOL: Across the Globe

Mr. Perry explains the VHS expectations sheet as VHS students sign the contract. Students must agree to an acceptable policy since VHS allows unlimited usage of the Internet.

Senior Nick Martunas rests after a difficult morning of his Visual Basics class.

Get to work...
Matt, Dan, Alicia, and Tom pose for camara instead of working on their 5 hour Student orientation.

Wowee!
Seniors Jeff Valois and Dana Mangsen are shocked at all the fun they can have with VHS.

MATHEMATICS

Using your mind is the key!

Is Will Ritter doing math homework or just playing games on his graphing calculator?

What's so funny?
Mrs. Haddad checks up on Allie Paddock and Courtney Myers, who seem to be having way too much fun doing AP Calculus work.

HISTORY & SOCIAL STUDIES

Unlock the Past and Hold the Key to the Future

Sophomores Greg Anderson, Ksenia Varlyguina, and Cassie MeGrath re-live history by beeoming 16th and 17th eentury royalty. Ksenia and Cassie are proud to sport their erowns as Ivan the Terrible, and Ivan III.

Seniors Erin Roaeh and Andy Hutchins proudly show off their Wealthy Barber project. All under-elassmen look forward to senior year when the projeet is a required assign-ment for Contemporary Eeonomics class.

Seniors in Mrs. Roy's Modern Ameriean Issues elass find great amusement by reading about their eountry in their Current Issues text book. Will Ritter, Erin Roach, and Miehelle Breton are learning how to unlock their future by reading about key people and events from past and present.

Miss Myers teaehes her AP United States History class about the 1849 California Gold Rush. Her Junior elass will be very well prepared for the May AP Exam.

Will Ritter and Kaitlyn Smith practice basketball for Mr. Mumby's Gym class.

Jonathan Forsburg dribbles the ball upcourt in Mrs Ryder's Gym Class.

Connner Bayliss, Lucas Norton, and, Matt Dziczek take a break after playing a game of floor hockey.

Right on Key with Band, Chorus, and Guitar!

Congratulations to Sheila Pedapati who qualified for All-State Chorus!

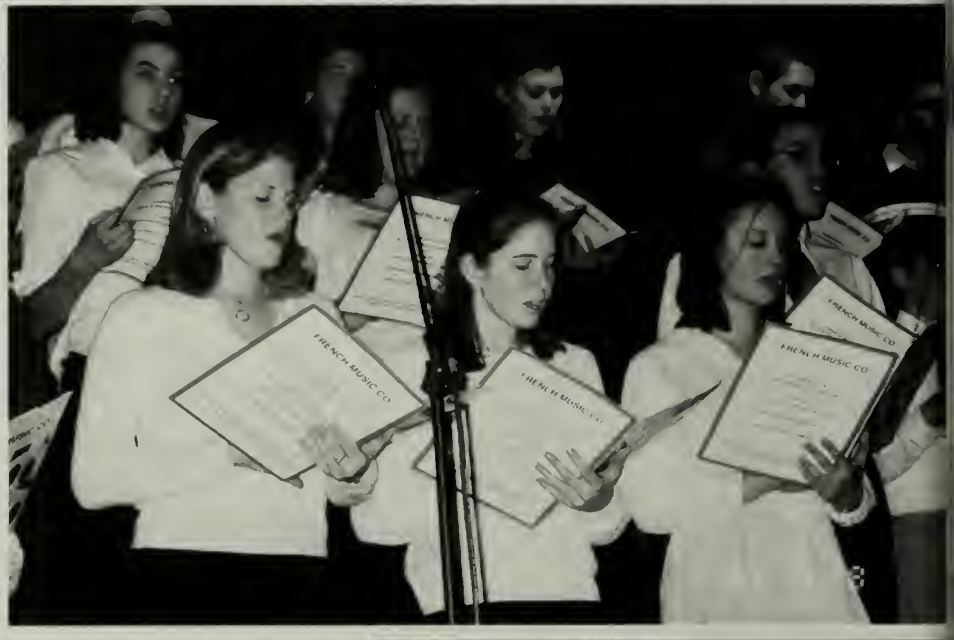
Mrs. Johnson conducts the band at the Winter Concert. Traditionally held before vacation, this concert was postponed to early January due to inclement weather!

Below the chorus sings a variety of songs at the Winter Concert. Andrea Titus, Carrie Drzik, Lindsay Richards, Jon Minville, Chris Bilton, Andy Hutchins, Lindsay Garvey, Laura Buckley, Emma Stratton, and John Pagonis are some of the students involved in this group.



Tom Welton, Mark Pearson, and Matt Hopewell are three students in Mrs. Johnson's guitar class. These senior boys show the audience what playing the guitar is all about!

For the first time in years, the chorus has had enough male participants to allow for one solo performance of their own. Pictured are Chris Bilton, Jon Minville, Matt Hopewell, and Andy Hutchins, making their song and dance debut by singing "Little Red Riding Hood." They made a howling performance!

No,Senior Lindsay Garvey is not having a staring contest with her pet fish Gunther! She's been working on a fish sculpture for studio art. Unfortunately, Gunther was accidentally left outside in the snow and grew quite home-sick.

Adrienne McAvey seems very happy with the ninja that she used for a lego project in studio art!

Eric Kujala has found a wonderful new hair-style. Actually, he's only peering out from behind Diane Abramson and Emma Stratton's sculpture of a dancing party goer.

While I was rare to do things with the class, I feel my time here was well spent. I can't get over the feeling of accomplishment that one receives knowing full well that they've denied themselves completely of a social life. Using pinache and clever duck-and-weave tactics, I've managed to avoid almost every aspect of social interaction that has been brought to my attention. I've worked hard to get here and I want you all to know that I couldn't possibly have done it without you. Seriously though, I wanna thank everyone who gave me the benefit of a doubt and tried to get me involved in this crazy stuff. Steve loves you all.

The last few years went by so fast! I can't believe high school is almost over. I would like to thank all my teachers for their continuous support and encouragement. I also thank my family as well, especially my grandmother, for always being there for me and guiding me in the right direction. Angie: guess what? Michael wouldn't let that happen! By the way, it's spelled P-O-P. My bad, your bad, we're even... yep! Chris: I know that whatever happens we'll always remember each other. And I can't forget Palm Springs, the place where I changed forever. I actually danced! I'm going back someday, still wanna come? How many months left? Well, that's all for now. Good luck class of 2001!

Goodbye and farewell to my classmates. We've shared good times through the years. Will, when we were younger: camp, Halloween, and hanging out. Dan, through the years it has been fun. Mark, we've become closer, but I'll always remember when you were a pain. Pat and Andrew, I will miss you. Andrew I have known you since we were 5; we've shared great times together. Pat you're a brat, but you're my best friend. Tony, #1 Stunna's in football. Meghan, we've shared great memories together, and you will always hold a place in my heart. Rick, earlier in high school we were good friends, and we will always have those memories. A special thanks to my parents for putting up with me over the years. Thank you for pushing me through school, and helping me. I love you.

We've finally graduated! It's been fun, but I'm happy to leave. Eyek, I'm indebted to you for life. Seriously, Corinne, you've brought out the best in me. But, did you take my calculator? Kelly, we've been through everything together. I'll miss sharing a room with you, but it's definitely time for me to go. Thanks for always being there. Mom, we don't always see eye to eye but I know you want the best for me. Thank you. Try not to worry about me too much. Dad, thanks for always listening. I love you both. Lori and Megan, I'll miss you. Don't worry, you'll see me by and by. Everyone in the Class of 2001, especially KatieB, LauraB, KellieA, LauraL, LindsayM, SteveB, WillR, ErinR, EmilyH, LilyRose, CarrieD, CaraM, KatyC, Corinne, and anyone else I might be forgetting, thanks for being yourselves. I've learned something from all of you. Best of luck, I'll miss you, have fun, goodbye.

It's funny to me when I look back... Our lives have always been devoted to leaving this place, and now that the time has come there are tears on everyone's faces. My memories are good and bad. Dater in BIO and watching her get mad. Getting through classes with spilled soda and football, Nintendo after school proceeded by Paul's. Getting scarred by glue guns and mailbox runs. Looking ahead to college now that high school is done, and also looking back at all of the fun. Gallons of apple juice and industrial parks. Reservoir signs and running from police. Solar fly and Syracuse at night, I got your back no matter what the fight. I leave this place a man but started as a boy, and to anyone reading this: it's high school.... enjoy.

JUNIORS

Andrew Mercurio is all smiles while he enjoys a game of pool on his free time between studying and football.

Nick Ricardi and Megan Feeley can't be distracted while they discuss a project during second period.

For once in her life, Ashley Kinnear is at a loss for words while Meghan Germain gratefully looks on.

Gary Crandall expresses his true feelings towards first period Spanish class.

Is Keith Woodman really concentrating on his Tech Ed classwork, or is he sharing a laugh with fellow classmate, Ben Sherblom?

While studious Patrick Deitemeyer reviews his history book, classmate Stephen Forde appears not as enthusiastic.

The Senior Class Will

Diane Abramson leaves her keys to Big Red to John. Watch out for falling trees!
Kellie Ambrose leaves a sense of balance and coordination to her sister, Missy Ambrose, so that she won't have so many random falls.
Angela Antinarella leaves encouragement to her cousins, Dan Hopewell and Jacky Andersen.
Katie Barry leaves her field hockey stick to anyone. . . someone. . . please. . .
Alicia Beauvais leaves her Mariah Carey/Whitney Houston CD to Robin Berkey so that she can remember their debut duet.
Laura Bounville leaves her best friend to Audrena Lovely for eternal love.
Karrie Bouthiller leaves great memories and dedication to the Cheerleading Squad because they can do whatever they put their minds to. She wishes them luck in the future!
Becky Bowman leaves great memories for her brothers, Jason and Justin, because she wants them to have as many great memories that she has had and more.
Steve Boyda leaves his knack for tardiness to future classes because students need to know that it's okay to be late four out of the five weekdays!
Sarah Brennan leaves the great memories that she has had for her sister, Liz, so that she too will have the same great memories.
Michelle Breton leaves her Miss Teen Massachusetts crown to future WBHS beauty queens so that they can have the chance to represent our state in the same way she did.
Laura Buckley leaves her Portable Pep Talk book to the soccer and tennis teams for some corny motivation to sustain themselves when she's gone.
Chris Caton leaves his gingerbread house to Aaron Tringuk to replace the one he kind of broke.. Sorry about that, Aaron!
Megan Chamberlain leaves her pet chinchilla to her brother Tim. Don't forget to feed him, Tim!
Renée Chevalier leaves her girl and fashion advice to her brother, Philippe, so that he will stop worrying so much.
Katy Counihan leaves memories and smiles to everyone at WBHS so that fun times will be remembered and passed on to future classes.
Andy Draleaus leaves his last block to Dan Mercurio because in Grade 8 he missed a block at Hudson and got in trouble.
Carrie Drzik leaves the memory of herself to Stacey Turcotte and Ksenia Varlygiuna so that they can continue to fight over her when she's gone.
Jill Flagg leaves the chance to make the lion green to Nick Ricardi.
Eileen Gardell leaves her socks to Audrena Lovely because her feet smell yucky.
Lindsay Garvey leaves.... an hour and a half late!
Kim Gilbert leaves her alarm clock to Pamela Pattiselanno so she can get up at 3:30 a.m. during Homecoming Week.
Matt Greaney leaves his charm to Mrs. Babineau so that she'll never forget him.
Chris Gustafson leaves his football shirt to Meghan Germain because she stole it.
Becky Harlow leaves her tennis racquet to her sister Mariena because she needs to start practicing.
Marlene Hill leaves the hack circle to whomever for more school lunches.
Caroline Hookway leaves her ability to "focus" to future AP Biology students.
Matt Hopewell leaves his guitar to anyone who wants to play.
Emily Howe leaves her ample supply of coffee beans for all the future WB students who have meetings at 6:45 in the morning!
Andy Hutchins leaves his arbor magazines to any other students who share his love for trees.
Jeremy Johnson leaves his pencil to Mrs. Bositis because she has helped him in English throughout the years.
Jake Kircher leaves his job to his brother Bob because he is good with kids too.
Eric Kujala leaves his knuckle curve to Paul Conforti so that he can get to the majors.
Katie Lamberto leaves her inhibition to her sister Kelly because she wants to live a little.
Tom Larson leaves his Barry White CD to the Class of 2002 for all of the future road trips they take.
Erin Latorre leaves her softball uniform #3 to Amanda Hudson because it is her lucky districts shirt.
Laura LeBlanc leaves her Shelly Cashman Series to her brother, Jeff LeBlanc.
Steve Lorusso leaves his baseball glove to Mickey Pucko because he is the next "great one."
Corinne Mancevice leaves her pens to anyone else whose always run out of ink!
Dana Mangsen leaves his Jeep to Justin Driscoll.
Cara Marchese leaves her pocket-size dictionary for students who need to define vocabu words in Mr. Gustafson's English class.
Nick Martunas leaves his secrets to AP Calculus for incoming students: Never ever study or do any homework.
Lindsay Matias leaves her truck to her sister Alicia for when she gets her license.
Adrienne McAvey leaves her fashion sense to the remaining students because it's cool and fun!
Lily Rose Mekjian leaves a proverb to everyone who reads this: The struggles that we have had in the past will be the foundation for the future.
Dan Mercurio leaves his parking spot to Andrew Mercurio because great trucks park alike.
Jon Minville leaves his humongous ego to the entire junior class so they can have the same radical power trip when they become seniors.
Matty Monroe leaves his soccer cleats to John so that he may develop a softer touch and the ability to score goals.
Leah Murray leaves her cool bracelets to everyone who wants to wear them.
Marlee Nolan leaves a sense of hard work to her brother because she believes that if he puts his mind to it he can accomplish anything.
Ashley O'Hearn leaves her tennis racket to Janet Curran because hers is so much better than Jan's… just kidding, Jan!
Kim O'Neil leaves school spirit to Phil C. and Ben Welch in hope that they use it to inspire their classes.
Luis Pabon leaves his Tecmo Bowl skills to both Frustacis because out of the whole football team, he lost only once on team dinner.
Alicia Page leaves a gallon of white paint to Lyndi Turner to fix all her mistakes on the ceiling because… she believes she can fly!
Mark Pearson leaves his taste in music to Ted Heintzelman because he needs it.
Sheila Pedapati leaves the front passenger seat to Lyndi Turner for all those times she couldn't have it.
Sean Perkins leaves strength against peer pressure to future seniors because they will be faced with this, and he wants them to have the power to say "NO."
Nolan Pucko leaves his twin 12-inch subs to his brother Mickey so he can bump.
Lindsay Richards leaves a shoe to Adam Richards because it sounds cool!
Will Ritter leaves his faded black hat to his sister Kate so she'll stop fixing her hair.
Jay Rives leaves his morning doughnut to Kristin Cleary because she always finishes whatever he can't eat for breakfast.
Erin Roach leaves the soccer CD to Robin Berkey because even after we're gone, you girls will just wanna have fun!
Kait Smith leaves her sisters Megan and Colby to the basketball team to take her place.
Jen Smola leaves her hack to all of those who try to compare, because her group was the ultimate hack circle.
Rick Stepien leaves his lucky coin to the baseball team so they can win games once he's gone.
Emma Stratton leaves her cheeriness to Christina Brisette, so she can continue to make the best tips at Darby's on Sunday mornings!
Jay Strniste leaves his parking spot to Paul Orciani, for no particular reason.
Andy Triola leaves his individuality to his cousin Brian Shumway because he has followed him for so long and he believes he will continue.
Jeff Valois leaves his lack of motivation to Jovie Piche because she works way too hard.
Dan Volk leaves his awesome study habits to everyone because they may need them.
Tom Welton leaves his guitar-playing skills to future kids in Mrs. Johnson's guitar class.

Sophomore Dan Young's power causes his ball to split into two! Sophomores helped annhilate the opponents. Mike Morrone was league all-star. They will surely be a powerhouse for the upcoming seasons.

MID-WACH C LEAGUE CHAMPIONS AND DIVISION III DISTRICT CHAMPIONS!

Freshman Dana Shusta mirrors junior Brian Clark's moves. Clark won first place in the individual District tournament. What a pair!

Freshman Brian Cleary watches his golf ball ease toward the hole. His enthusiasm helped the team achieve an undefeated season.

FORE! Senior Captain Jeff Valois has a swinging 'ole time as a crowd gathers. The 2000 season proved successful for Jeff who got a hole-in-one at Wachusett Country Club.

KATIE RUNS TO GAIN POSSESSION OF THE BALL
Senior Captain Katie Barry, who was a Mid-Wach D, Central Mass., and Telegram and Gazette Super-Team all-star, led the team in goal scoring. Here, she charges down the field to score one of her three goals against Clinton.

JACKIE WINDS UP
Jackie was a first year starter for the Stags who contributed a few goals and lots of hustle. Here, she gets ready to send a through pass up the alley.

ALLISON CARRIES THE BALL
Eighth grader Allison Barry dribbles the ball into space, starting the 8-5-5 Stags on a run down the field.

VERY GRACEFUL, GARY!
Mid-Wach D all-star Gary Crandall brings the ball up the field to secure the home win against Ayer.

Kellie Anne Ambrose

Congratulations!

You've always been a dreamer. When you were little, your dreams were of unicorns and ponies. As you grew older your dreams became your goals. You've worked hard to reach those goals. We're so proud of you. Always follow your dreams.

Mom, Dad,
Missy Gram Molly

William Ritter

Congratulations Will!

"May there never be a dream beyond your reach or a star you are unable to touch.... May no day be too short to fit love and laughter into it." - Labon

Laura Joy LeBlanc

Conrgatulations!

Is this you as a freshman? It's hard to believe four years have passed. May your paths ahead be blessed and exciting. We love you very much.

Mom, Dad, and Jeff

Laura Buckley

To Be Happy, Be!

As you continue with your journey of discovery, may life be filled with cherished friendships, laughter, adventure, special moments, and endless dreams to dream. We are so proud of you and love you very much! - Mom & Dad

From Toys to Trophies

I watched you grow from a smiling little princess to a Beauty Queen in pageants. I know how much you loved Palm Springs. Go there again, but please come back.

Love, Gramma

Eric Kujala

You're a Winner!

Congratulations with love and pride for the honorable person you've become and for all you've achieved. Follow your dreams to reach your goals.

Love, Mom & Dad

Emily Howe

With Love and Loud Applause

You now have the foundation for the castles you've been building in the air. Let your values, your intellect, and your heart guide you. Always be wonderful you.

Love always, Mom, Dad, and PJ

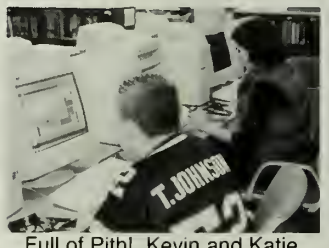
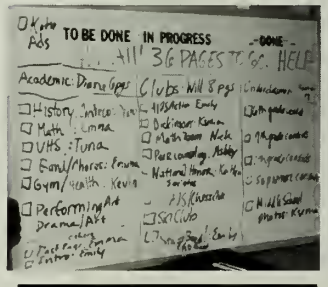
Hmm... Does this thing come with instructions? Katie battles the computer to complete her section.

So close and yet so far! Kaitlyn crops her pictures next to the DONE box.



Full of Pith! Kevin and Katie create clever captions.



Neither rain, nor sleet, nor snowballs will stop yearbook production. Staffers Katie, Nick, and Emma attack editor Emily.

Despite obstacles like a RAGING blizzard before deadline 3, a preggo advisor, and a locked school building, the yearbook staff managed to get this edition of Lion's Pride in your hands. They worked countless hours, raised mucho cash, and stayed until late at night. Enjoy!
